

You Have Received Your Child Support Order ... Now What?

Open a child support case with Central Sierra Child Support Agency and we will maintain your confidential information for you.

OR

California law requires that you file your information using the FL-191 form within 10 days, updating it by completing a new form when any information changes.

Agency Support (Recommended)

- ✓ Personal Support: A dedicated case manager to answer your questions in person or by phone.
- ✓ Simplified Process: We explain every step and keep your case on track.
- ✓ Payment Tracking: We collect, distribute, record and monitor payments for you.
- ✓ 24/7 Access: Automated phone and online tools for updates anytime.
- ✓ Consistent Service: Support lasts as long as your order does.
- ✓ Order Updates: Change your order amount with no fees or court costs.
- ✓ Avoid Court: Negotiate changes if both parties agree - no court needed.
- ✓ Legal Document Support: Service of documents when required.
- ✓ Affordable: $35 annual fee if we collect more than $550. Free for those making payments and people who have received certain benefits.

Do It Yourself (Register FL-191 Form)

You will manage your order yourself. This means you will need to:

- ⚙️ Update the court within 10 days of any changes (address, phone, employer)
- ⚙️ File legal documents, petitions and orders and pay all associated filing fees.
- ⚙️ Conduct service of process for certain legal documents.
- ⚙️ Track payments and resolve payment disputes on your own.
- ⚙️ Enforce the order yourself or respond to enforcement actions.
- ⚙️ Petition the court and pay associated fees when changing your child support amount.
- ⚙️ Registering the FL-191 form does not open a case with Central Sierra Child Support Agency, but you can open a case anytime.
